FATHER HENRY FREIBURG, O.F.M.

To the many seniors, the largest class in Quincy College history, who will leave this school in 1950 with their college degrees tucked away safely under their arms, I have been asked by the editors of the Gyr Falcon, to dedicate this yearbook.

To all of them I offer sincere congratulations for a task successfully completed and in the journey of life, an important milestone passed. While we dislike to see them leave us we know that such is the restless routine coincident to college life. I can only say: it was a joy to have them with us and we bid them Godspeed in their various ways of life leading to high achievements and noble ends.

OFFICERS

VICE-PRESIDENT

Rev. Victor Hermann, O.F.M.

To complete one's college career is to achieve success in one sphere of good living. The bachelor's degree is the distinguishing mark of this success, but no degree, however laboriously earned, is an end in itself. The degree is a fairly insignificant item in the great pattern of any senior's life, a means designed to lead the college graduate not merely to material gain but to an ultimate spiritual end in the achievement of which lies his true purpose of living. Any senior, therefore, who leaves Quincy College satisfied that he has attained his final victory has not learned the real aim of his fundamental training.

FROM STATUE, THE VIRGIN OF VILLENUEVE—LES VIGNON

The Lord, bless you & keep you. & & & & may he show you
his face & & & &
and have pity on you & that he turn his face towards you & & & &
and give you peace

Prayer of Peace

Lord, make me an instrument of Your peace. Where there is hatred, let me sow love; where there is injury, pardon; where there is doubt, faith; where there is despair, hope; where there is darkness, light; and where there is sickness, joy.

O Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console; to be understood as to understand; to be loved as to love; for it is in giving that we receive; it is in pardoning that we are pardoned; and it is in dying that we are born to eternal life.

THE THIRD ORDER OF ST. FRANCIS

To reflect the religious ideals of St. Francis in the lives of college men and women—this is our Third Order's purpose. Quincy College's oldest organization, the Third Order appeals to those students who wish to intensify their spiritual and moral character. Humbly proud of its past membership which included six who later became bishops, 500 who became priests and ten who became nuns, the Third Order still sends a few members yearly into the ranks of the clergy and of religious orders and scores of members into the ranks of truly Christian families. Under its moderator, the Rev. Julian Woods, and inspired by zealous officers, the Third Order vitalizes religious practice at the college.

NATIONAL FEDERATION OF CATHOLIC COLLEGE STUDENTS

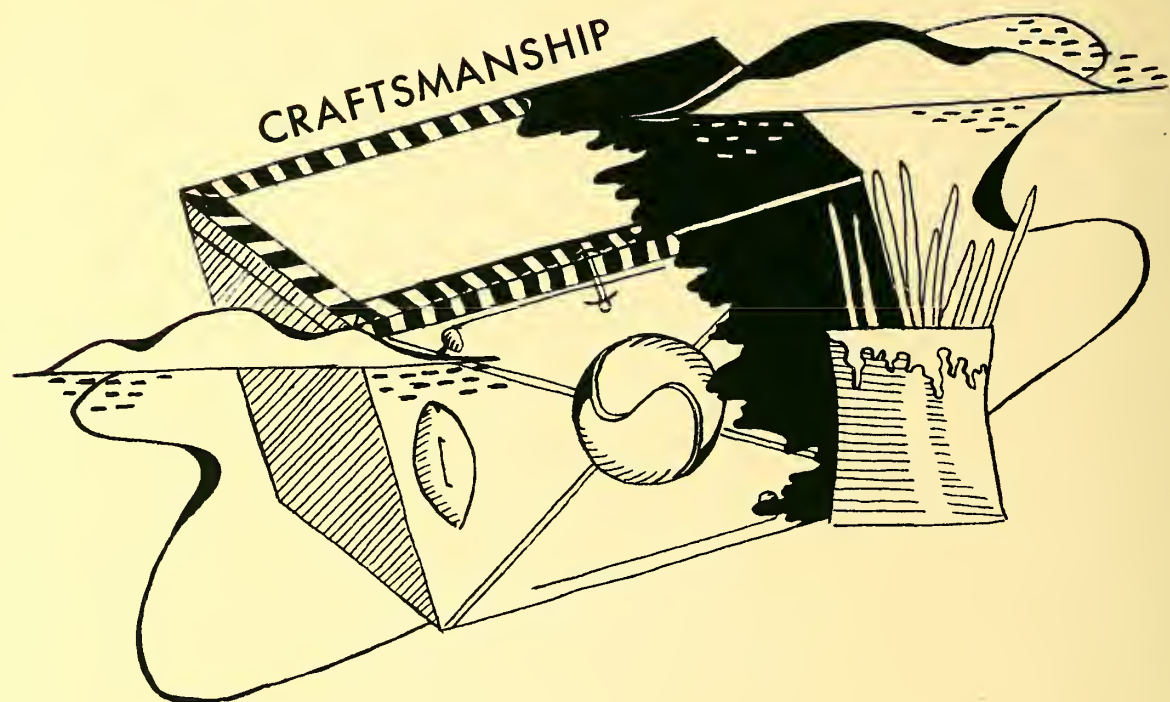

Every Catholic student of Quincy College is automatically a member of the N.F.C.C.S., which embraces 90% of U.S. Catholic college students. Since the Q group is in its first year as a member of the organization, it has functioned on a very modified scale. Many students are but vaguely familiar with the purposes and the activities of the federation. Its main purpose is to develop Catholic lay leaders and to achieve unified action in matters involving Catholic college students. Its activities include money, food and clothing shipments to the victims of war. Recently the St. Louis region of the N.F.C.C.S. elected Q.C. men as president (Tom Daly) and as treasurer (Richard Kamins). Father Cosmas Herndel, O.F.M., is faculty adviser.

ATHLETICS

No one who sat by a radio all afternoon one Sunday last November will soon forget the Quincy team that came from behind to down the favored Duhawks of Loras College. That was the game that highlighted a football season remarkable for eight consecutive wins after an initial trouncing by St. Ambrose. It was that season, too, in which the Hawks took their third of a string of Pioneer Conference championships and earned the return of the Mississippi Bell trophy from their traditional rivals at Culver-Stockton College.

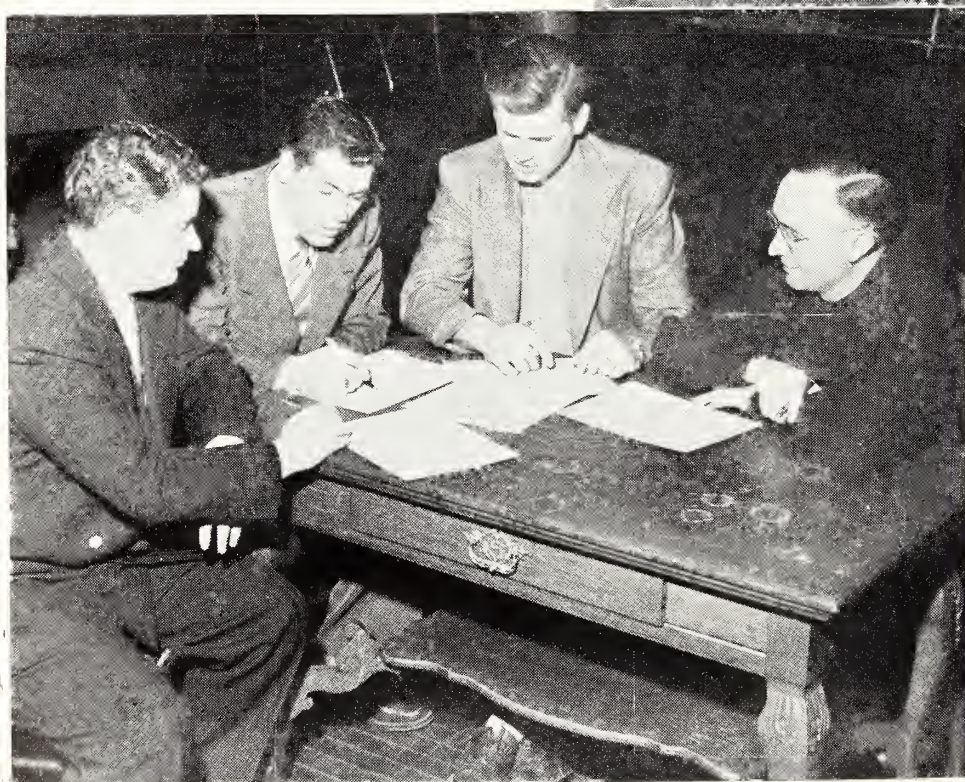

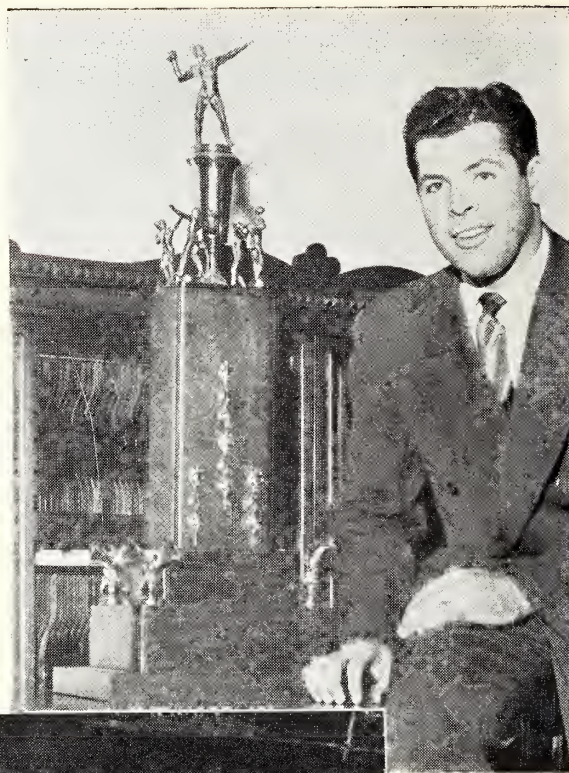

The Hawks of the hardcourt got off to a slow start, but evened things up by season's end to come off with a .500 average. The basketeers put a big feather in Coach Ray DeGreeff's cap the night they handed him their first victory over the rival Wildcats of Culver-Stockton. And another good year on the baseball diamond was practically assured by the return of most of last year's hard-hitting team.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA

Alpha Psi Omega, the national honorary dramatic fraternity, increased the size of its local chapter by sending invitations to another group of students this spring. Candidates earn their membership in this fraternity by participating in college dramatic and musical productions. Since Alpha Psi Omega is an honorary society, its members are those who have received special recognition for outstanding work. Pictured below is the remainder of last year's group. Members received this spring are: Floyd Ginster, Frank Malone, Mary McClure, Marilyn Miller, Marilyn Moore, and Herbert Wellman.

Hard work—and plenty of it—is the lot of those faithful few who twice-each-month-except-January edit and publish the Falcon, campus newspaper. This six-page, tabloid-size paper devoted to news coverage of campus activities has been published by a staff consisting largely of seniors, so the field will be wide open for newcomers to replace those who have participated in journalistic activity for the past four years. And although staff members at times have complaints about the difficulty of running down stories, the problem of getting others on the staff to join in the work, and the long hours of work on proof-reading and page make-up, most of them will admit that there is something about it all that makes it hard for a person to get away from journalism once he has become immersed in it.

GYRFALCON

Sporting a new face and revised contents, the Gyr Falcon is published as a keepsake for all full-time students. Its staff has tried to gather as many and as varied pictures as possible. The Rev. Joachim Daleiden, O.F.M., staff adviser, encouraged the initiative shown by editor, picture editor, business manager, artists and their assistants to produce an issue, which it is hoped, will meet with as favorable a reception as was accorded last year's first Gyr Falcon.

Cooperation has been the great factor which helped to pull the Gyr Falcon through its second year. Father Cosmas Herndel, O.F.M., willingly gave up a section of his office to provide working quarters for the yearbook staff and contributed generously of his time and energy to provide pictures and helpful information. Bill Schell produced the "Sport Oddities" page and the month cartoons in "Through the Year." Barbara Pierson, first editor and artist of the Gyr Falcon, again created the divisional section drawings and the introductory page to the Religion section.

TOKEN

The Token, student literary magazine, fills a need for those students who desire to develop and express their literary talents for writing. It is the work of the students, by the students and for the students. Token's ancestors, The Solanian and an anthology, are being given new birth in purpose if not in emulation. The father of Token is Mr. Leo Hertz. It has been his persistent desire to provide students with a means of public literary expression.

The magazine, to be published once each semester, Autumn and Spring, would like to take this opportunity to express appreciation of the enthusiastic support given by campus organizations and the Alumni association without which publication would have been delayed indefinitely.

ORGANIZATIONS

STUDENT SENATE

With a new Student Government Constitution came the Student Senate. It is the governing body which represents the students, works to foster a better relationship between faculty and students, and is the complaint department of Quincy College. The main purpose of the Senate is to promote the general welfare of the Quincy College Student Union, to exercise such powers of student government as are conferred on it by the Committee of the Board of Control.

Composed of seventeen active members representing every organization and class, the Student Senate made its first appearance in Q.C. this year, taking over in place of the previous Student Council. Under the guidance of the Rev. Owen Blum, O.F.M., Ph.D., faculty adviser, the Senate became the voice of the students. Senators will henceforth be elected in May and hold office for the entire school year starting in the fall. This group chooses the Senate officers. First semester officers of the Senate were Parnell Kelly, President, Bob Bogenschutz, Vice-President, Mary McClure, Secretary, and Tom Daly, Treasurer.

Donald Werr, Moderator; Kueser, Crutsinger, Reilly, O'Donnel.

Keeping alive the memory of a great coach, sportsman and most loyal son of Quincy College, the Eta chapter of Alpha Delta Gamma, National Catholic Fraternity, held its third annual Mart Heinen Memorial Dance on May 29, in Labor Temple Hall. The highlight of the dance was the awarding of the Mart Heinen Memorial trophy to the outstanding athlete-student of the year. The winner of last year's award was Henry Eckstein.

The Alpha Delts have been kept pretty busy during the past school year. Two pledge classes were formally initiated and smokers were given for each class. For the homecoming bonfire, the Alpha Delts collected and stood guard for twenty-four hours over the materials. And during the Christmas season, the Alpha Delts ran a formal dance, at which they personally functioned as waiters as well as hosts.

Group attendance of the fraternity at Friday Mass and Communion was inaugurated during the year. Fr. Donald Werr, O.F.M., faculty adviser of the fraternity, was much elated over this serious activity of his men.

DELTA CHI DELTA

Celebrating its seventh year, Delta Chi Delta is the oldest active Greek letter fraternity at Quincy College. It was organized to stimulate intellectual growth in harmony with the educational traditions of Quincy College, to promote constructive social activity as a necessary adjunct to the efficient training of young men, and to foster in its members solid ideals of character in accord with the true concept of the Christian gentlemen. New members are voted in on the basis of social and scholastic attainments.

Through its efforts, Delta Chi Delta has brought to Quincy College the name bands of Blue Barron and Art Kassel within the past two years. To further the athletic program at Q.C. the fraternity created a roving trophy to be awarded to the victor of the annual football tilt with Culver-Stockton. This trophy was named "Mississippi Bell" by Chuck Brady, fraternity member and sports editor of the Falcon. In addition to the "big name" orchestras that the fraternity has been instrumental in bringing to Quincy, it has also sponsored the annual "Bell Trophy" and Mardi Gras dances. Among the Delta Chi Delta activities are those performed by its pledges—keeping up their old tradition of supplying free coffee and donuts during the fall homecoming queen election. The Rev. Jovian Lang, O.F.M., is the moderator of this group.

KAPPA MU SIGMA

Nothing slow about these boys—Kappa Mu Sigma is Q.C.'s new fraternity organized in January. Its thirty-seven members immediately implemented their purpose . . . the betterment of the individual morally, physically, educationally, and socially, to be achieved by a promotion of athletics and public service in school activities . . . In the February class elections, nine of its members were honored by official positions. There are eighteen lettermen in the ranks together with five members who work on student publications. After several interscholastic basketball games Kappa Mu Sigma served refreshments to the teams. In April, the fraternity sponsored an informal dance at San Souci Gardens. Mr. Ray DeGreeff is faculty adviser.

PI LAMBDA SIGMA

Characterizing the Pi Lambda Sigma sorority are four c's that initial their various qualities or ideals—culture, calibre, character, charm. The national Catholic sorority branch was founded on the campus three years ago by an ambitious group seeking a higher degree in sorority life. Thus far, their history at Q.C. has been one of distinction. Highlighting their activities for the year is the annual May Crowning which the Pi Lambs sponsor and wholeheartedly participate in the first Friday of May. Merry with the coming of Christmas the Pi Lambs held a dance at the Moose with the Phi Kappa Chi sorority. The Rev. Cosmas Herndel, O.F.M. contributes his vivacity, as faculty adviser, to the Pi Lambs.

PHI KAPPA CHI

Friendship, loyalty and sociability are the targets of the senior sorority on the campus. Holding these principles, the Phi Kaps are a gay, lively group of young women. Though small in number, they manifest their presence by sponsoring dances and activities. Mrs. Ray DeGreeff is faculty adviser of the group.

A Christmas party in the cafeteria was given by the Phi Kaps for a group of children, who might not otherwise have enjoyed a full-scale Christmas. The Kaps had as much fun as the tykes. Early in the year, Phi Kappa Chi sponsored a turn-about dance and before Lent an informal dance. Colorful gowns and a warm spring night brought into focus the annual spring formal, given to the Phi Lambda Sigma sorority by the Phi Kaps.

CIRCLE-K

A service club working with both the College and the town people has not only been thought about, but here we have it organized. Circle K is a form of the Quincy Kiwanis Club and its members implement their civic responsibility by performing duties such as ushering for football games and other activities given by Quincy schools. Hats off to Parnell Kelly, Pete Dixon and Ralph Volm, Treasurer of the Kiwanians, who were responsible for the organization and to the Circle K boys, who needed no pushing once they got started.

The Biology club was organized in October, 1949. The aims of the club: to aid Quincy College majors and minors in biological sciences while in school and after graduation . . . to promote scholarship . . . to cultivate fellowship among students and science alumni. A two-fold program adopted to carry out the aims . . . lectures and discussions to stimulate interest in biological science and to broaden its members' knowledge . . . social activities to provide Christian fellowship for its members. Sophomore standing in biology must be attained in order to be eligible for membership.

Activities for the year include lectures by outstanding men in the field . . . circulation of a newsletter among its members . . . a trip to Illinois State Academy of Science . . . Future plans look to a homecoming for Club alumni. A student placement program to aid in getting positions for graduate members is already at work.

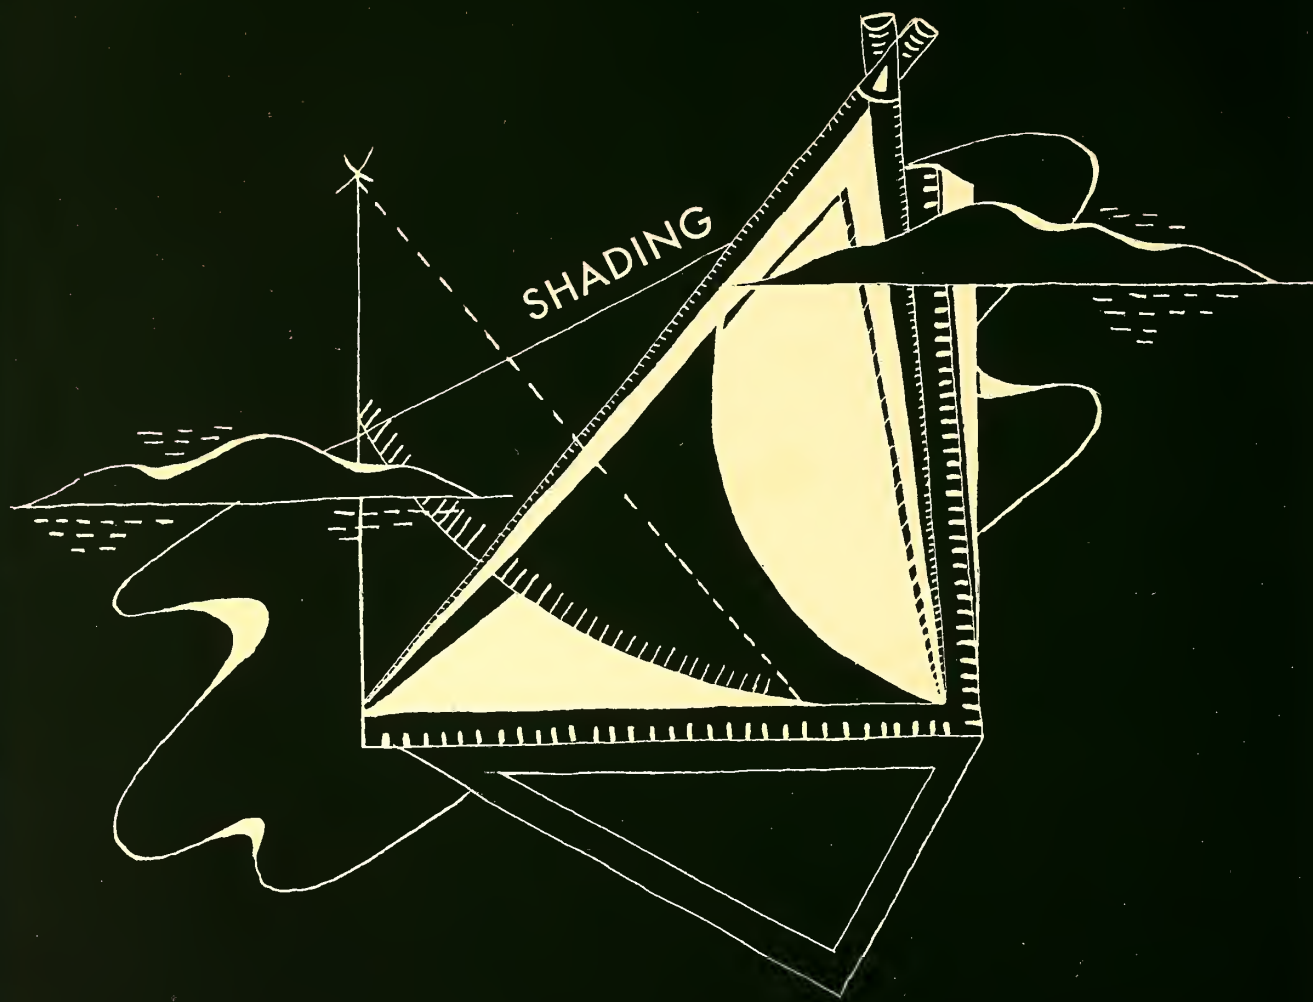

ENGINEERING SOCIETY

Recently formed at Quincy College is the Engineering Society. The primary purpose of this society is to raise the standards of the Engineering Department and give to the students a greater appreciation for their profession. Bi-Monthly meetings are held at which this purpose is achieved by bringing prominent speakers in this field to the College.

Activities of the past year included a series of lectures given by representatives of the Portland Cement Co. of Chicago and a General Electric Co. show called "The House of Magic."

LENTEN ARDOR

With the advent of Lent, Quincy College Chapel became the scene of great demonstrations of faith. Increased attendance at weekday Masses and in Confessions and Communion were the Students' response to our Holy Father's request for a more zealous practice of the Catholic Religion.

Q. C. CAFETERIA

No words could describe the wonderful job that Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lenane have done in dispensing wholesome meals to hordes of hungry Q.C. students. Who could forget "Mom's" smile or Paul's feigned grimness. A job well done by a couple of swell people.

Our new shield is divided into equal halves. The right half (left side of the person who looks at the shield) has a silver background (since there is no gray in heraldry) for the gray friars the supposedly original color of the Franciscan habit. On this background appears the coat of arms of the Order, the cross, the arm of Christ over the arm of Francis. In the upper half behind the cross is a sun (Latin sol) for Solanus or St. Francis Solanus, the patron of the College. Solano in Spanish means a plain illuminated by the sun. St. Francis was the sun which shed the light of Christianity on Argentina and Peru.

The left half of the shield bears the coat of arms of Quincy, one of the 25 barons chosen to enforce the observance of the great charter, on the bottom half. Quincy's arms consist of a silver flower of five petals, called cinquefoil, on a red background.

The upper half of the left side is colored blue, the color of the Blessed Virgin, the Seat of Wisdom, source of wisdom. Sustained by the Blessed Mother is the book of learning and scholarship. In the open book are written the words "I am the herald of the great King." St. Francis once used these words to describe himself, and the mission of his life and his Order. The net result of the education imparted by Quincy College is to send into the world other heralds of the Great King, Christ. The graduate is reminded that Christ's mother will ever help him spread the glad tidings of the Great King, and that she, the Mediatrix of all grace, will obtain for the graduate the grace to lead a life which will proclaim the Great King.
